

The Bravery, Faces

When I hold you I am just trying to feel
That thing inside of you that I once thought was real
See that light I thought I saw but it was never there at all

I put these things in you I wanted to believe
But they're unreal it seems I made them in my dreams
I see illusions of the things I just wanted you to be

And I see faces in the darkness
I hear voices in the air
I see shadows all around me
But no one's there, no one's there
I see faces, I see faces

You are speaking but your lips don't match the words
It's just voices in my head
I want someone to love so badly
I don't know what's real anymore

And I see faces in the darkness
I hear voices in the air
I see shadows all around me
But no one's there, no one's there
I see faces, I see faces

I see faces in the darkness
I hear voices in the air
I see shadows all around me
But no one's there
No one's there
No one's there