The Byrds, Love That Never Dies

Something happens to me every time that we touch Sometimes I'm worried cause I think I might love you too much Yeah I know what your Mama says and maybe she's right But can't you feel what my heart is saying tonight

For a woman like you life's an opening door You're the beautiful girl that we're all looking for Yeah you can have anything, anything that you want But baby what we've already got can never be bought

If your love is a timeless flight Well you know that's alright Cause we're gonna take our time loving tonight

I'm gonna hold you right here in my arms as the limousine takes us away And we'll dream about the music of some brighter day Throw a dime to the tambourine man and kiss all the horses goodbye And believe in the spirit of a love that never dies
