

The Byrds, Thoughts And Words

One day you came into my mind
And everything looked as though
It was all mine.
Loveliness to gaze upon
To feel your magic
Pulling me away.

I thought I was on top of it all.
Everyone else was so small.
And I knew what you wanted to do,
I knew what you wanted to do.

Often think of times
When all your thoughts and words
Come close to making me lose my mind.
Moment now recalling
All the time involving
Minutes that we spent alone.

I thought I was on top of it all.
Everyone else was so small.
And I knew what you wanted to do,
I knew what you wanted to do.

One day you came into my mind
And everything looked as though
It was all mine.
Loveliness to gaze upon
To feel your magic
Pulling me away.

I thought I was on top of it all.
Everyone else was so small.
And I knew what you wanted to do,
I knew what you wanted to do.
