The Call, Even Now

Chased, chased

Out into the woods Footsteps close behind my back

I never knew how close I stood

Shame has brought me to my knees

Love protects the heart

It is just as you please

Fights, fights

Up and down each shore

We may be outnumbered here

The lions start to roar

Cry, cry for all to hear

Cry, the world goes on

Would you lend me your ear for a moment

I still care even now

Chased, chased

By the angry mob

Trying to steal my heart from me

Steal from me my love for God

Watch as stars fall from the sky

Wait until the oceans dry up

But even then

I still feel loved

Even so, I feel cared for

Even now

So look in my eyes again

Do you recognize my face

One of despair again

Is it gone without a trace

I feel IÕm alive again

Rescued from the void

Here IÕm alone with you

Here IÕm at home with you

Even now

Look, look

theyÕre running close behind

Those you thought your enemies

Are friends now standing by your side

Fight for every step you take

Shaped by every lie youÕve ever heard

Pain, pain

The pain IÕve been forced to see

Blame, the blame belongs to no lone but me

But oh, I still care

Even so, I still feel loved

Even so, even here, even now