

The Carpenters, I'm Still Not Over You

Just today I saw you smile

And it took me back to yesterday

You still move me like you did

When you read me with your eyes that way

Haven't seen you for a while

Father Time must be a friend of yours

You still take my breath away

Do I really have to say

How much I want you

(*) Just when I thought I was doin' alright

Sleepin' away almost half of the night

Now who

Who was the last one I needed to see

Just when I had most of my broken heart

Put back together to make a new start

Now I have to forget startin' over

I'm still not over you

I was calm as I could be

As the feelings all came back again

What I was supposed to do

Treat you like a stranger or a friend

I'm not wise in things of heart

I'm not one of those who knows the moves

I was hangin' by a thread

Hangin' on each word you said

To hear I love you

Repeat (*)
