

The Carpenters, The Parting Of Our Ways

Where has it gone?

The love we shared?

The love I live for is no longer there

If God only planned it to last all our days

There never would have been a parting of our ways

Love was so bright, then you went away

My days were sunny; now they are gray

If God only planned it to last all our days

There never would have been a parting of our ways

I hope and pray that he'll return to me

Forever since he's been gone, I've been in misery

I hope someday he'll come up to my door,

Saying he's sorry he'll leave no more

My love is gone now; it didn't last

Who was my future now is my past

If God only planned it to last all our days

There never would have been,

Never would have been now,

Never would have been a parting of our ways
