

The Connells, Choose A Side

When they said "Who won the war?"
You were in the war.
When they said to choose a side,
It made you want to hide.
When you fell in with the rest
We were not impressed.
When they said "Who won the war?"
It made you smile.

When they've torn you either way,
Put your past away.
When they said to choose a side,
It made you want to hide.
When you fell in with the worst,
It could be a first.
When they said "Who won the war?"
It made you smile.

This time, this time
And nothing will do
This time, this time
We'll leave it all to you.
This time, this time
It's all the same.
