

The Dissociatives, Forever And A Day

Waiting for this jury to unwind
Coz its been so hard wearing my heart up my sleeve
Words won't say the sounds that I can hear
A thousand sunshines on rainclouds
The truth is I'd believe and be

Forever and a day
So cold without you

Lonely without you

Whenever you're away
I'm starting to doubt you

So cold, so cold

Time has never been a friend of mine
But it has owed me a favour
Since everything was fine
And I'm desperate change,
As familiar as the moon
I'm feeling lonely and stable and
It's beleived that soon I'll be

Forever and a day

Days are folding over night
Turning empty pages
But I don't see nothing
If I don't see you...
