The Doobie Brothers, Too High A Price

LaKind/Zirngeibel/Herron

No one lives forever So don't waste your time Just ain't right to walk away Roll the dice, lay it on the line

Many roads to travel In your search you might find That getting there will have no meaning If you can't enjoy the ride

Too high a price That everyone's paying The world ain't so nice Trying to survive Spending your life Takin' chances you're given That's always enough to keep the dream alive

If you're lookin' for trouble You can bet it's gaining from behind When you give, you get back double You can't lose let your heart decide
