

The Echoing Green, Fall.4

Is your smile upside down
Or did the sky fall to the ground?
Do you ever wish for amnesty from
The pain that's all around?

And you say...
There has got to be a better way
Well I say...
If you hold it in, it won't ever go away

So let the tears...all fall down
And watch your fears...all fall down

Well you've seen some dreams come true
And you've seen some nightmares too
And for you it's wishful thinking there'd be
Space between the two

And you say...
There has got to be a better way
Well I say...
Maybe we should pray and just
Give it to yesterday

So let the tears...all fall down
And watch your fears...all fall down

The tears fall from your eyes
To make a mirror turned towards me
And what I thought I left behind
Has come to rip into my reality
Well this is where it dies
The grief won't have control of me
I've been sanctified
By The One who has a hold of me

This is where it dies...
I've been sanctified

So let the tears...all fall down
And watch your fears...all fall down