

The Echoing Green, Fall Awake

(Lyrics by Joey B and Chrissy J)

"It feels so cold"
I hear you say
I see your eyes are turning gray
And your tears, they hide away
So I can't find you...

I feel you stand
I feel you sway
I feel you push your strength away
Surrendering to hopelessness' embrace
I can't let you
If you

Fall Awake
I'll try to save you
Nothing can take you down to
Fall awake
I'll try to race you
I'll try to chase you down
Fall awake
I'll try to shake you
Nothing can bring you around to
Fall awake
Nothing can faze you
Nothing can break you down

And your dreams, they feel displaced
And your kiss leaves a bitter taste
And my hands, they touch your face
But I can't feel you
If I could wake up standing in your place
If I could kiss the teardrops from your face
And if I could dress your wounds in place
You know I'd try to

Fall awake

If you find you're reaching for a line
Wishing for an ending to this crime
And if your heart can't beat in time
Reach, reach and take mine

Run away...

Fall awake

(You might take and you might chase
and you might shake and I might waken...)

Fall awake...