

The Exit, Question The Chorus

in this urban jungle life seems so scarce caution: hot danger sign buyer beware there's a billboard on the skyscraper place your ad here

do you think it's all right is this all they had planned
what about the people's demands there's a protest down on seventy-first street outraged about their canceled health care policies the glass ceiling on the social well-being had left its mark on our plutocracy
