

The Faint, Tandem: City To City

we hear the talk we settle down release the thought we get along i don't know which is better now, this backwardness or my own imbalance, we can stand each other when there's nothing else there is no way to compromise when no one cars
when the action dies, the crowd awakes to the truth this city was cut from your saga so hold yourself for the first in line or wait until the action dies