

The Fall, Noel's Chemical Effluence

Noel's chemical effluence

We were going right through the Alps
when we picked up this fabulous scent Of Noel's Chemical Effluence.

Noel's chemical effluence

There was a fuss about the elements waiting for the keyboards as ever.
The firmament of it is going out the exit.

Noel's chemical effluence.

There's an inherent disease goes with an imbalance of the juices
in the brain that in transit causes one to envisage white faces,
as if spiked by mescaline.

Noel's chemical effluence

And we're going right through the Alps
Look what happened at the lodge.
Look what happened at the castle.
Look at the red-purple vomit stream.
From the bed, angled right into the bathroom.

On the finger of your banker (bound)
And when all else fails
We can always blow your whistle.

In work, in pleasure, I'll come for you
The abdominalizer, in excellence.
