

The Fratellis, Got my nuts from a hippie

Well I met her in a bar, the men with big guitars were playin
And I listened with my ears but I couldnt hear what she was sayin
And I guess she talked with her mind
But didnt want to seem to unkind so I just laughed
And kept my eyes peeled to the door.
Wondering what I was there for

Chorus:

But its alright, its alright

Its alright, its alright

I got my nuts from a hippy in a camper van on Saturday night
Well I asked if she believed in Adam and Eve the fable
And I guess she wouldve given me an answer if only she was able
And she danced like a medicine man
Drew a crazy picture on my hand and told me
She wanted to change my point of view
Asked me where I was going to

Chorus

Well she whispered in my ear we got to get us out of here to the country

I asked her for a ride she took me aside said try me

I thought Im gonna wake pretty soon

In the middle of a Sunday afternoon just dreamin

And it was warm in the back of her van

When she made me a real man
