

The Go Set, Away Away

A picture is worth a thousand words
But it can barely scratch the surface of what I have seen and heard And while all around is worthless
I see you in sepia
I see you in black and white Even in my wildest dreams, even on my darkest nights
Walk away,
I have you hanging on my wall
I see you every single day away, away
only memory can find you
away, away
leaving this poor fool behind you Just a memory,
though I can hardly sleep
of yesterday ? good enough for me
When I wake up on restless days
So much noise, so little sleep
I lie awake in bed
I resolve to make believe and imagine that you're here that you never went away it's so easy to dream but so hard to face the day I can't forget, I won't forget
? see what can you do I hate everyone, I hate everything that's keeping me from you away, away (away, away)
leaving this poor fool behind you
Just a memory,
of yesterday ? good enough for me
Away...
