

The Go Set, Journey Of A Thousand Miles

Two baby boys, born on an island far to the north a life determined by skin, that was as brown as the earth Stolen away, from a mothers who's cries can be heard by a nation to this day
All the lies, places and faces were all lost in time
All those lies, and the river of tears those mothers had cried
Remembering the past, dreaming of the future
But living for today, living for The Journey of a thousand miles begins with just one step, the Journey of a thousand miles
begins with just one step
The first was raised on a farm, the work was hard and the times were tough but grew there a man, six foot tall and a strong pair of hands and tailor made shoes, with a four hour trip to the city each june for a size fourteen is the sound, of a man who's feet are firmly set on the ground So a letter came one day, that the mother they never knew had fallen ill and passed away But with that letter came the news, that many miles to the west he had a twin brother
So much had been found, and so much had been lost So he set out on a Thursday, just one huge foot in front of the other it was a journey of a thousand miles - to find a brother And after a month of walking, of just one foot in front of the other He stood there, and they looked at each other and they knew. It was like looking into a mirror and they embraced, like brothers do they talked, and they ate So the next day, they went and bought two pairs of those brown boots for the winter And every year in June they meet on that day and these days they bring their families and they get those brown boots together, for they are a family of their own they know where they come from,
and they sort of know where they're going That journey of a thousand miles that began with just one huge step.....
Remembering the past, dreaming of the future
But living for today, living for
The Journey of a thousand miles begins with
just one step, the Journey of a thousand miles
begins with just one step
