

The Hollies, Then The Heartaches Begin

(Hicks / Clarke / Nash)

My sadness it is growing I'm sure it's started showing This feeling's getting stronger
I can't hold back out much longer It's swelling deep inside emotions I can't hide

Then the heartaches begin I'm telling you
The heartaches begin

I need someone to guide me someone to reconcile me to take away this pain before it starts again
But no one listens to me Can't control what's set in deeply

chorus

Four stone walls surround me An empty shell's all you see My former self's departed
A man who's broken hearted Loneliness is what I fear holding on to all that's dear

chorus

I'm telling you child