The Horrors, So Now You Know

We're going to forget All the things you could've said Whatever's going on Now you're standing alone

Bet I'll forget the loss We know where you are right now We know why you wanted somewhere to go

So now you know Turn away So now you know Turn away And now you know You can mean what you say /2x

Ready to forget the loss Never let the good things go Now just be going when you're out in the cold

Beyond the fear of letting go Out there on the shore tonight That's the life you put aside for too long

So now you know
Turn away
So now you know
Turn away
And now you know
You can mean what you say
/3x