

The Jam, It's Too Bad

All we seem to do is talk about it we always end up shouting about it there was a time when we could overcome it But it's too late to say we'll just forget it It's too bad that we had to break up and too much said for us to ever make up I could get by if I could just forget you but things remind me and I feel so sad now

Same old feeling everytime I see you and every avenue I walk I'm behind you your back is turned and your eyes are closed girl you move in circles that are out of my reach now

I could say I'm sorry but it's not the point is it? you want to play your games and you don't mind if I get high!
