

The Juliana Theory, August In Bethany

With the sound of the ocean crashing,
7:30 Friday evening,
Everything comes tumbling down

I choke back each tear that bleeds,
I'd rather rest forever in your arms
I'd rather stay here, than go,
But I know that I should leave

As I sit here helpless

(Don't go) You said you wouldn't, You said you wouldn't
(Don't go) You said you wouldn't, You said you couldn't
(Don't go) You said you wouldn't, You said you wouldn't
(Don't go) You said you wouldn't, You said you couldn't

I think of our time together,
Is it fading, or am I dreaming?
Everything you said lives on
I cherish our memories
I wanna kiss your tears away tonight
It's hard to give up the one you never thought you'd leave

Don't go
Don't go
Your eyes, they see through my soul
Don't go
You say as I walk out your door

With the sound of the ocean crashing,
7:30 Friday evening,
Everything comes tumbling down
