

The Katies, Powerkiss

And her watermelon smiles in her sunshine dress
With the sticky feet patter and a powerkiss
On a window in the morning it was cool breeze & Christmas
Like a shock trip stall in the super hero ball
With the wishy wish eyes and the flowers on the wall
It's a grand thing, a memory, the magic in her eyes
When she's killing me
And you said it all with your smile
You coaxed me on with your whites and you wakeup in the corner with a grinny grin grin and a super love friend my eyeliner teaser and how do I do I do I need you they all know it's true
You quote another wink while I'm tripping in the sink
With a quick give a drink as I'm dancing on the brink
Of a phone call the after all the waiting on the Master in the last stall
I'm fine anyway your love and my play
Can anybody tell me why I should sing a Watermelon love song
You touch it on the lips with a quick slip kiss
And the tragic come unzipped as you shoot it from The hip of a happy song a symphony
A seven story drop of gravity
