

The Kelly Family, If there's a paradies

Go on your search escape your own crosses walk half the earth and swim across the sea till you're bruised and battered and all the freedom has ever brought you is inner hollowness Anie locks herself up in a room filled with darkness and all you laugh about is how she wet her bed last night again but all I really pity is the fool for who mocks the weak is the sickest one of all You're so consumed with all the wrong if there's a paradies were missing the point of life oh jaaaa I am here to please you nor me solidly please god all others wasting time As a young girl you seek for a picture of one's tomorrow and all you get shoved up with it to be skinny and beautiful well then tell me what happens to those who don't obtain the things they so call forever young Cause there's no way out once the seasons passed you by and you can take all the money and gold she won't be dancing that I keep promising to me Paradise paradise paradise....
Joany works as a supermarket director she's got four kids just on her own she feeds with a proud smile and I've never witnessed her once complain for the richest are those who give love to one on a daily base
