

The Kooks, All Over Town

Dear sir, did I see you fleeting?
I cared for your heart, but not for it beating
You try to put a frown on me, fell me down
You are spreading bad things about me all over town
But I'll show no frown

Because all over town, yes, all over town
There are people who would undermine you if they could
Don't let them in

What do you see when you see me sir?
The very same thing that makes you bitter
So you say all these outrageous things, that's what you do
Yes, but you're no poet man, you just want everyone looking at you
So I'll show no frown

Because all over town, yes, all over this town
There are people who would undermine you if they could
Don't let them in

Oh, all over town, yes, all over this town
There are people who would undermine me if they could Won't let them in
