

The Kovenant, Chariots of thunder

Like crusades across the infinite
Night swallowed light
Cursed were the minions rebellion
An image of the serpents creation
Reveal and enter the passage
Enter into the phantoms fire
Constellation - a unity in chaos
The chariots of thunders arrival
Sent fragments of my reflection to the void afire
Behold the new breed created in my own image
Brighter these eyes burned with wicked anticipation
As the struggle for the black elements came to an end
...A precious mingeling of the flesh and alien fire Held dreaming hands beneath the power to universal creation
And became the utter perfection of total completion
Breathe the untouched majesty of dark emotions
And feel the power...the beauty of domination
...Conquering the weavers Utopia...
To see them in such swarms
I wondered if this could be paradise
A seed for the future
The fire of fate and faith set alight
...Behold the faithless and his angel...