The Kovenant, Vision of a last kingdom

Swept in the wintery landscapes Untouched by the hands of the holy I am a demon, I hold the key But not for myself... But to crush the feeble race I have thad visions of lost kingdom Once so proud but only to fall We raise the sign on the mountainside This domain.... Is eternally ours Out world is like a black soul In eteral search for immortalilty But the soul is tired of searching...