The Kroisos, Keep me away from those dark nigh

So beautiful you are And your love is keeping me alive So beautiful you are Could you hold my hand and save me tonight? I would like to stay But evil is strongly calling my name And I am too weak to make it go away Make me stronger, with your love Keep me away from those dark nights Let your love light up my way Take me home to the bright side Don't let me drown in the deep unknown sea If pain brings me down to my knees Could I fall into your arms please? How strong is your love? I am asking myself When I am crawling in the streets Wasted, by booze, step by step losing The chance to be loved by you
