

The Manhattan Transfer, The Thought Of Loving

By david white

The thought of loving you
The way i'm longing to
A thousand hopeful dreams i've had
Are finally coming true
I used to put you on a pedestal
Where you became untouchable
But now we touch and now so much is possible
Just being near to you
Would be enough for me
The many years without your love
Have been so rough for me
But now a change is taking place in me
I've found someone whose faith in me
Has given me the strength i need so desperately
In my darkness you turned on the light
My illusions vanished over night
The thought of loving you
Is now reality
The thousand dreams i had
Were no where near to how it could be
For as we melt in love so beautiful
I've never felt so wonderful
The thought of loving you
The way i'm loving you right now
