

The Methadones, I'm About To Crack

I am on the verge of losing self-control
Pacing through the living room
Ready to put my fist through the wall
Step back you're in danger baby
The pressure is too much for me
I need a release
I'm about to
Trying to contain myself but something's trying to get out
I keep hoping it'll subside
I am filled with doubt
Step back you're in danger baby
The pressure is too much for me
I need a release
I'm about to crack
It's gonna take a lot of you to strap me down
Nurse Ratchet may take care of me
But I won't wear a hospital gown