

The Moody Blues, Reflective Smile

'Your painted smile hides you still While you search yourself within Yesterday and tomorrow's found
Fused as one upon solid ground
As all around the milling crowd
Confuse themselves with raging sounds
And their loves forgetfulness abounds
So be thankful for your greasepainted clown
If loneliness wears the crown of the VETERAN COSMIC ROCKER'