

The Polyphonic Spree, Section 31 (Overblow Your Nest)

Complicated heart of mine
With wings of love, nowhere to fly
Peculiar pattern is setting in
The sun is coming back again

One day soon, you make a mess
The world comes down and overblows your nest
And goes

The summer clouds, they made us proud
The clock extends, we live without
The ringing, slumber, forgotten years
The angels sing when the end is near

One day soon, you make a mess
The world comes down and takes you to your nest
And it goes

Maybe you and me are hoping for anything
We want this world to know that we're alive
Someday, you're reaching out
For all the times you've lived without
Without the dreams you had down deep inside
'Cause one day soon, the world comes down and says, "Goodbye"

Exhausted train of thought decides
This complicated heart of mine
The wishes lie, I can't pretend
This life I had to begin again

One day soon, I'll make a mess
Angels come and take me to my nest
And I'll go

Well, I made a stride for all the days I came alive
The world became the one I've wanted to try
I reached down and grabbed my soul
For all the days I want to know
I want this world to know that I'm alive
'Cause one day soon, the world comes down and says, "Goodbye"
Yeah, 'cause one day soon, the world comes down and says, "Goodbye"