The Rembrandts, Shakespeare's Tragedy

I don't want you But I'm inclined to Think you're the only fool like me

And if you want to

You could hurt me now

And bring me a world of misery

I don't wanna make you

I just wanna take you down

By the cool clear water

Under the sun filled sky

I need you and you need me

God alone knows why

God alone knows why

And if you want to

Have someone to love you now

Why shouldn't be a fool like me?

'Cause we're the only ones laughin'

At Shakespeare's Tragedy

And wouldn't you miss my company?

I don't wanna make you

I just wanna take you down

By the cool clear water

Under the sun filled sky

Well I need you and you need me

God alone knows why

God alone knows why

(music)

God alone knows why

(music)

I don't want you

But I'm inclinded to

Think you're the only fool like me

(pause)

Won't you meet down

By the cool clear water

Under the sun filled sky

Well I need you and you need me

God alone knows why

Oh yeh

By the the cool clear water

Under the sun filled sky

Well I need you and you need me

God alone knows why

God alone knows why

Knows why

God alone knows why