

The Rumble Strips, Time

(1, 2, 3, 4)

There's nothing left for us, we're rotting in this place
And the night has lost it's taste
The bells of doom are ringing, but you don't hear them
You say "come on back to bed"
And I say "you must be dead"
Don't you hear big bells ringing
Don't you hear those voices singing?"

It's only time, let it pass away
It's only time, let it pass away

Well I run into the streets and I scream from the depths of my lungs
"Well I see you've finally come!
Good evening Mister Reaper,
What's that you're saying? All my hopes and dreams are dead?
That I should go back to my bed"
I wake up a new man, singing the only words I can

It's only time, let it pass away
It's only time, let it pass away

It's only time, let it pass away
It's only time, let it pass away