

The Smile, Just Eyes and Mouth

Through the glass
Look at you
Eyes and mouth
You only say the words
And then turn them 'round
No matter what the situation
Telling yourself this is nowhere

You appear now, then you disappear
You let it slide, letting it slide

Soon to complete your transformation
And beginning all this all over again

To be changing, always becoming
A traveler passing through
No one to worry about
No one all
There's nowhere to be
Now my shadow of light in the dark
Someone I knew somewhere before

Soon to complete the transformation
And beginning all this all over

Through the glass
Just look at you
Your eyes and mouth
Tapping on any window