

The Spill Canvas, Caterpillars

There's pixies tuggin at your hair....
There's pixies tuggin at your hair....
Your hair....

Your picture in my hand
I am at the mercy of your photograph
The halo above your head
Has set ablaze the heavens my angel
It's 3 AM and I am sneaking out your back door
A goodnight kiss and I am stumbling to my car

And I never thought I'd feel this safe again in a million years
And lying next to you, and hoping that it's true
And with you I'm truly in my element, my element with you
And with you I'm truly in my element, my element with you

And I'm tossing and turning, the candlelight's burning
And this is all we need, and this is all we need
And I'm tossing and turning the candlelight's burning
This is all we need, this is all we need tonight, yeah yeah
Tonight, yeah yeah

And I can almost taste the water as it's running down my chin
And I can almost taste the water as it's running down my chin