

The Starting Line, Are You Alone

We're all just everyday people,
And there's a part of you
connected with everyone else
And there's me and there's you.

This life can get so confusing.
Oh, if you only knew.
If I could I'd take you with me
but I'm here and you're there.

Are you alone? Oh no.

I'll say it so you can hear me.
It's a lonely truth:
"I've been spending all my time
by myself without you."

Are you alone? Oh no.

And if you are let me hear it.
And if you're not then consider yourself.
Yourself lucky as hell.
Have you ever needed help when you've been all by yourself?
Have you ever been home when everyone's gone?

Are you alone? Oh no.
