The Submarines, Clouds

It's not so far to go But tonight I won't be coming home I'll come here on my own When our nights and days turned to months and years And I forgot how to be alone I forgot how to love Oh, but don't cry my baby Theres blue skies but for you Even when the clouds roll in I still want you near me When I found my place Here is this new room Everything went quite clear And I could feel again, and I missed you The whole of me missed holding you But I, I won't cry my baby Theres blue skies but, for me Even when the clouds roll in I still want you near me Oh I said I'm not in love You made me count the ways But I couldn't hope to be both cause and bone for pain It breaks my heart to break your heart I know that means I'm still in love Oh, so don't cry my baby theres blue skies but for you Even when the clouds roll in I still want you near me I still want you near me I still want you near me Even when then clouds roll in

I still want you near me
