

The Subways, Walls

well go dancing into death now whole world is catching breath judgement day has come by stealth now its like fire in the sky that time has left us in the cold our heroes are falling

walls are tumbling down
we are the army of the lord
all your systems go
we fight for something to believe in welcome aboard face the plan now the pulse runs fast no more blindness tears in my eyes, storm in the sky ready for the fight

that time has left us in the cold
our heroes are falling

walls are tumbling down
we are the army of the lord
all your systems go
we fight for something to believe in