

The Sunstreak, Live Again

Searching for the right words to write to you
In this letter I adore
All those times I never had a trace of hope
When you're gone this is all going to be so hard
After all I've been through
I'm finding it hard to describe
And if you
Ask me now I will never breathe again
And if you ask me now
I will never breathe again
Again
Even though you'll never quite understand
They're just like silver clouds and gold
Golden mornings and the rain in the evening
You're about as perfect as they come
And after all I've been through
I'm finding it hard to describe
And if you
Ask me now I will never breathe again
And whoa
And if you ask me now
I will never breathe again
And whoaa
And if you
Ask me now I will never breathe again
And it's just so hard to say
And it's just so hard to find
The feelings that you never had
The feelings that i havent said
And should I put it all to rest
And give myself a second chance to live
Again...