The Sweet, Restless

Connolly/Priest/Scott/Tucker

You know I've tried to cool it I've been trying to settle down But when I think I'm made it It drives me crazy Well, I'm staying on the wild side Always hit the higher ground Nothing I do Could amaze me

I'm so restless, so restless You know it's too late now Too late now, too late now Too late now...

Well I've always been outrageous But a change has gotta come Making up my mind Was never easy I was born to late to love you The day will never come It's love that I need So don't tease me

I'm so restless, so restless You know it's too late now Too late now, too late now Too late now...

I'm so restless, so restless I gotta say it's too late now Too late now, too late now Too late now... I gotta say ya too late now Too late now, too late now Too late now...
