

The Swellers, Favorite Tune

I used to spit more than I sold.
I'm glad I helped you out.
I'm waiting for another sign
from god or a speaker of mine.

Every time I broke down I said
there's too many drugs at the hospital.
Never let me break down again.
Everyone could, no one ever does.
I can see gray skies ahead.
Every time I fell, you always knew my favorite tune.

I've never had a friend like you before,
you chill me out.
So I'll turn it down,
my services,
so you can hear the things they might have missed.

Every time I broke down I said
there's too many drugs at the hospital.
Never let me break down again.
Everyone could, no one ever does.
I can see gray skies ahead.
Every time I fell, you always knew my favorite tune.
Always knew my favorite tune.

Sometimes I feel the lucky ones just fade away.

I can see gray skies ahead.
Every time I fell, you always knew my favorite tune.
Always knew my favorite tune.
Always knew my favorite tune.
Always knew my favorite tune.
