

The Swellers, No Matter The Weather (Kyle's Song)

Not everyone is a good person
And you didn't know at first
When true colors come out
Change needs a quenching of its thirst
The whole world seemed to fall on your shoulders
As things go wrong, your son grows older
It just takes love to hold things together
No matter the weather
A survivor, the best mother
A believer, and a dreamer and a lover.
You've been through it all
As summer turns to fall
You've been through it all.
You've seen highs and lows.
When rain turns to snow
You're still strong and it shows.
A survivor, the best mother
A believer, and a dreamer and a lover.
You've been through it all
As summer turns to fall