

The Tea Party, These Living

Patience, my love, it'll all be alright
Ain't it funny how the fates work
I feel cheated by the turn
But this love it hovers over us
And the lessons that we've learned
With your arms around me
You're singing softly
And I fade from memory
And move on
We were lost inside a wasteland
Of fools groping for the gold
I wonder if they'll think of us
While they're searching for their souls
Patience, my love
Patience, my love
With your arms around me
You're singing softly
And I fade from memory
And move on
May nothing harm you
I'm still inside you
With my wings around you
So never put it out my love
The spirit is the flame that burns within
Hold on to it
And it'll all work out fine
Sleep now is descending like a dream
Still I'm shaking from the softness
Of your skin
Hold on to me, love
And make it all feel alright
With your arms around me
You're singing softly
And I fade from memory
And move on
May nothing harm you
I'm still inside you
With my wings around you
With your arms around me
You're singing softly
And I fade from memory
And move on
Sweet lover go on
Sweet lover go on
My love be strong
