The Twins, I Need You

I thought that you should go What were you worth to me I thought I'd find another girl As soon as I was free.

But then I saw you and I nearly died Standing in the arms of mister nice So finally he'd got you - it all became so clear Your lips were nearly touching - it was more than I could bear.

I need you I need you and I need to know you're mine I need you I need you like the lyric needs a line

I knew that you loved me I didn't feel the same While you were being true to me I was playing games.

But then I saw you and nearly died Standing in the arms of mister nice So finally he'd got you - it all became so clear Your lips were nearly touching - it was more than I could bear.

I need you
I need you and I need to know you're mine
I need you
I need you like the lyric needs a line.
