

The Veils, Under The Folding Branches

There I knew you once, didn't I
And the sound of that music traveled
To me from that orphan sky
And pulled 'til it all unraveled
Love, hide me away
Deep in that turning canopy of snow
Go, spin me around
Under the folding branches
Now is not too late
Heaven can wait another year or so
Thought I loved you once, didn't I
But I wanted the fame, didn't I
Thought it broke your heart, didn't I
That that face in the dark wasn't mine
Love hold me away,
Deep in that turning canopy of snow
Go, spin me around
Under the folding branches
Now, is not too late,
Forever can wait another year or so
For I loved you once, didn't I?
Yeah, I loved you once, didn't I?