The Verve Pipe, Honest

who will leave your bed this morning? who will be the one to leave you now amidst adoring light cause it feels right? who will be the one to leave you as tomorrow's dawning?

and though i'm asking, please don't give specifics i'm so unterrifically honest who will hold your door this evening? who will be the one to steal the smile through shining candlelight cause it feels right? who will be the one to leave you as tomorrow's dawning?

i'm not trying to be scientific i'm not trying to be anything at all but this chemistry just turns me turns me terribly honest honest who will leave your bed this morning?

will he be the one
who snuffs the smile that once had shined so bright?
are you alright?
will he be the one
who leaves you as tomorrow's dawning?

i'm not trying to be sympathetic i'm not trying to be anything at all but this story's happened to me and it's turned me terribly honest honest