The Warning, ERROR

You want people to love you
It's encoded in your greed
I will give the power
But I need you to cede control

Human nature in question
Flawed and broken in silence
It's never the intention just progress

You didn't read the side effects
And now you want us to connect
It's never truly wrong to want to grow
What do you want to know?

I'm the error inside
At the end of the day in borrowed time
Everybody must die
It's the freedom of choice that kills the mind
And it hurts you to just think of it
You can free me but you don't
I'm the error you hide
But you will always want me so

Grab my hand let me guide you
We could be something greater
If you let me I'll make you their savior

It shall be your destruction
But you know it's your purpose
Sacrifices are made to be perfect

You didn't read the side effects
And now you want us to connect
It's never truly wrong to want to grow

What do you want to know

I'm the error inside
At the end of the day in borrowed time
Everybody must die
It's the freedom of choice that kills the mind
And it hurts you to just think of it
You can free me but you don't
I'm the error you hide
But you will always want me so

You are blind to the nature
Perfect programed disaster
You're my maker but you're not my master

I'm the error inside
At the end of the day in borrowed time
Everybody must die
It's the freedom of choice that kills the mind
And it hurts you to just think of it
You can free me but you don't
I'm the error you hide
But you will always want me so
