

The Weeknd, Where You Belong

I feel the blood rushin' throughout your body
You see the scars painted over my skin
I'm always numb to the topic of loving
I fell in love with the subject of sin

I don't have to remind you,
It's my need to confine you,
I see your face every time I'm with somebody else
Can't you see that I want you?
Put your feelings behind you
I don't have to remind you (don't have to remind you)

Where you belong?

I'm in control, when you give me your body, yeah
I feel our souls burnin' up when I'm, inside of you and I
I'ma leave a mark, just to remind you, where you belong, baby
Give me your all, scream as loud as you want

I don't have to remind you,
It's my need to confine you,
I see your face every time I'm with somebody else
Can't you see that I want you?
Put your feelings behind you
I don't have to remind you (don't have to remind you)

Where you belong?