

The Word Alive, Nocturnal Future

It's feeling like the world is just a wicked game
Sell ourselves and lost all shame
Aren't you tired of livin with your eyes shut...
Are you living with your eyes shut?

I thought when I got older, I wouldn't think of things this way
Scared to raise a family, I might not live to celebrate

But time's been so hard for most of us some days We all give up,
Life's not made for the hopeful ones,
It makes you run from what you trust

It's feeling like the world is just a wicked game
Sell ourselves and lost all shame
Aren't you tired of livin with your eyes shut
Find the truth I know that we're afraid of Cause the World is such wicked game

Numb to war we look away
I say try to fix the pain that we made
Face the dark sun, don't look away

It's hard to face the mirror, when you don't love what you see
The problem feels too big to solve but it starts with you and me

Everything feels broken yet we look the other way
Life is made for the hopeful ones, hope you bring us better days

If you feel lost like I know you do
You've found your home
Stare into the dark sun

Everybody thinks that they know the way
You tear me down every single day
But everything has led me here
And I see in the dark
