

The Zutons, Tired Of Hanging Around

Well these should be the best days of your life
But you worried all the goodness away
And these should be the times you remember the most
But you haven't got the patience today

Down at the station a driver leaves late
Everyone's day is adrift
Well it's a domino effect and it's lost you all respect
So you'd better get your boss a gift

Cos they're tired of, tired of hanging around

The bus turned up and you wouldn't believe
The driver had an attitude
Well he gave my pass a check and he gave me no respect
And it's got me in a terrible mood

He's oblivious to all the pain that he's caused
And the pain that he's about to make
Well I hope the next person could be the wrong person
And wipe that stupid look off his face

These should be the best days of our lives
But we've worried all the goodness away
These should be the times we remember the most
But we haven't got the patience today

Cos they're tired of, tired of hanging around
